"We stand for the scrupulous observance of pacts . . . and declare that all nonsense about Sovietizing the Baltic countries is only in the interest of our common enemies."—Foreign Minister Molotov, Oct. 31, 1939.

"One swift blow to Poland, first, by the German Army and then by the Red Army, and nothing was left of this ugly offspring of the Versailles Treaty."—The same Molotov, 1939.

"We do not want a foot of any one else's territory."—Stalin, about 1935.

"The friendship of Germany and the Soviet Union, cemented by blood, has every reason to be lasting and firm."—Stalin to Ribbentrop, Dec. 28, 1939, after carving up Poland.

"It is not only senseless but criminal to wage a war for the 'destruction of Hitlerism' camouflaged as a fight for 'democracy'."—Molotov, Oct. 31, 1939.

"The United States stand unequivocally for a strong, free and independent Polish State."—Secretary of State Stettinius, Dec. 18, 1941.

"The three heads of government consider that the eastern frontier of Poland should follow the Curzon line."—Yalta Conference, Feb. 12, 1945, signed by Roosevelt.

"All of the nations . . . must come to an abandonment of the use of force."—Atlantic Charter, to which Stalin agreed.

"The armed forces of the Soviet Union must daily improve their military art."—Stalin, May Day speech, 1946.

"We will create new fighting ships and new bases for our Navy."—Stalin, July 22, 1945.

"The Soviet government is entitled to take such steps as it may judge best to create a regional system in Eastern Europe."—Sumner Welles, Asst. Sec. of State.

"The Soviet Union . . . is run by a dictatorship in the world."—Roosevelt, Feb. 11, 1940. (Later, many times, called by him a "freedom loving democracy.")

"We have to use any ruse, dodge, trick, cunning, unlawful method, concealment, veiling of truth."—Lenin, 1920.

"The word of honor of the Soviet government is as safe as the Bible."—Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, Feb. 25, 1942. (Russia has broken 27 treaties since 1939, the only nation ever expelled from the League)

Gives Information On Preservation Of Wood

ANDALUSIA, July 31—Bensalem Rotary Club held its weekly dinner meeting in King Hall last evening with president A. Kurtz King presiding, and Joseph Lynch as the speaker.

Mr. Lynch is chief engineer of Keystone Wood Preserving Company. He gave an interesting talk on preserving wood from destruction by parasites, especially termites. He showed the advance this new industry has gained by extending life of treated wood to 75 per cent over wood which is not treated, thereby preserving life of timber and forests of the country.

Treatment of wood is becoming more general as Mr. Lynch showed. In the space of 10 years wood treatment has jumped from 22 million cubic feet to 200 million cubic feet.

The Keystone Co., during the war, he informed, filled orders for the U. S. government. He added that practically all piers in New York harbor have been treated by his company.

Heaveners Are Tendered An Evening Reception

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, July 31—A reception was tendered the Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Heavener in Cornwells Methodist Church last week.

F. S. Lockhard supervised the program which included: song, "True-Hearted, Whole-Hearted," guests: "Kentucky Babe" and "Amaryllis" choir; "Woodpecker Song," Mrs. Samuel Mudie, Miss Elva Hibbs, Mrs. Bert Conn, Mrs. Robert Hall; moving pictures shown by Mr. Lockhard.

The Rev. and Mrs. Heavener were presented with a bouquet of flowers and a set of hound lamps. Refreshments were served to 50.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Following the 18th annual swimming meet, a meeting of the board of trustees of the Fanny Chapman Memorial Swimming Pool, Doylestown, was held on Saturday when a new chairman was elected to head the board.

Charles C. McKinstry, who served as the chairman of the board of trustees since the pool was begun, died a week ago and William J. Kane, Jr., was elected to fill the vacancy on the board caused by the death of chairman McKinstry.

Mrs. William R. Mercer, "Aldie," and Mrs. Charles C. McKinstry were elected honorary trustees at a re-organization meeting of the board of trustees.

The new chairman is Charles E. Radcliff, who is interested in the recreational facilities for the youth of Doylestown. Other officers include: vice chairman, J. Carroll Molloy, Jr.; treasurer, William J. Kane, Jr., and secretary, Mrs. Arthur M. Eastburn.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Housley, Point Pleasant, on Sunday was the scene of a pleasant gathering when 79 persons, descendants of the late William and Annie Lord held their annual reunion.

The occasion also marked the 66th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Alice Mullien, Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cross, Norwood, had the distinction of being the oldest couple in attendance. Mr. Cross is 88 years old and Mrs. Cross is 81 years of age.

Featuring the gathering was the serving of a picnic dinner and supper and a ball game with men and women taking part.

Presbyterians of Doylestown on Sunday held a service in the mother church, the Deep Run Presbyterian Church, better known as the Irish Meeting House, which is located two miles northeast of Dublin.

Threatened Strike Would Halt Food Distribution

PHILADELPHIA, July 31—(INS)—A warehousemen's strike was threatened today which would halt food distribution to 300 stores of Philadelphia's four largest chain markets.

The walkout involving 1600 workers would halt activity at 13 warehouses of the American Stores, Atlantic and Pacific, Baltimore Markets and Food Fair, Inc.

Edward A. Hartsough, business manager of AFL warehousemen's union local 169 said the strike was set for six p. m. tomorrow to enforce demands for an hourly wage increase of 18½ cents.

PLAN HEALTH CLASSES AT STATE COLLEGE

Conference Will Begin On August 12th and Last Until Aug. 31st

LIST OF THE SPEAKERS

HARRISBURG, July 31—Completion of plans for a three weeks Health Education Workshop at State College during the month of August was announced today by the Division of Health Education, Pennsylvania Department of Health.

The conference, scheduled for August 12 to 31, will study The Health Needs of the Elementary School child, and Materials and Methods of Instruction by Classroom Teachers. Outstanding leaders in education and health are on the program, which has been designed particularly for teachers, school nurses, health educators and others engaged in health work as it touches the elementary school child.

The Workshop is being sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, The Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction, The School of Physical Education and Athletics, and The Summer Sessions of the Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania.

Students attending the Workshop, and satisfactorily completing the three-week course, may earn three graduate or undergraduate college credits. The instructional fee is $18 for the three credits. The registration fee for those not seeking college credits is $1.

Problems to be considered by the Conference will be outlined in opening address on August 12 by Dr. Harry W. West, State Secretary of Health; officials of Pennsylvania State College and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Featured speakers for the remainder of the sessions are: Morris Fishbein, M. D., editor, The Journal of the American Medical Association, Chicago; Dorothy B. Nyswander, Ph. D., Inter-American Educational Foundation, Inc., Washington, D. C.; Dr. Elwood W. Stitzel, chairman, Committee on Child Health, Pennsylvania State Medical Society; Ruth Abernathy, supervisor of Physical Education and Recreation, Department of Education, The University of the State of New York; Dr. E. R. Coffey, medical director, District No. 1, U. S. Public Health Service, New York City; Herbert Walker, director, Department of Health and Physical Education, Pittsburgh Public Schools; Edward J. Wall, director of Health Education and Safety Education, The School Committee of the City of Boston, Mass.; and Dr. Stanley P. Reimann, director, Research Institute, The Lankenau Hospital, Philadelphia.

CLASH OF ECONOMIES

Much of the present tug-of-war in the United States can best be understood by setting up a new series of definitions for various political views concerning economic programs, and by analyzing the motives of the combinations now fighting to make their views prevail.

The type of economics to which the leadership of the Truman Administration is committed may be called "consumer economics." Its essence is that wages are to be high and prices low. Most of the speeches of Chester Bowles, many of the White House statements, and all of the CIO-PAC campaign for price controls are based on this concept.

There is only one important thing to be said about this kind of program. It can't work. If wage-costs are not included in prices, they have to be accounted for somewhere else. Putting them into taxes just puts them back into prices—figure it out for yourself; where else can taxes themselves be found if not from the profit-margin of prices?

Wages costs can be postponed by national debt. That is the wholly immoral scheme of putting them on the tax bills of posterity. Or they can be dissipated in the form of inflation. That is the most common recourse. Only one other exists—that of making part of the working population work for nothing so that the other part can receive its extra-high wages; this is slave labor, the device the Communists are using to keep the Russian economy alive.

This type of economy is like an empty sack — it can't stand alone. It can only be held up by rigid controls.

Consumer economics, in fact, is the shortest short-cut ever found to the most absolute dictatorship ever known.

The original American form of economics is what might be called "crop-export," in which agricultural com-

CO. SEAT MEN ARE SEA-GOING COWBOYS

Care for Dairy Cattle Being Shipped to Stricken Greece

RETURN IN SIX WEEKS

Three young Doylestown men are serving as "sea-going cowboys," caring for dairy cattle being shipped to stricken Greece.

The trio, Arthur B. Houk, Richard T. Lambert, and Darwin S. Overholt, sailed last week on the "Villa Nova Victory" from Newport News, Va. It is one of the many relief ships carrying cattle to Europe.

Messrs. Lambert, Houk and Overholt are using the summer months to combine a useful service to starving people and also see what war has done to Europe. They will return in about six weeks to some undesignated American port. Their duties on board ship will consist of feeding, watering, and otherwise caring for the animals bound for Europe.

They are three of some 8,000 such nautical cowboys recruited at the United Church Service Center, New Windsor, Md., to care for 200,000 animals being shipped abroad this year from a number of American ports. This is only one of many relief projects carried on at this busy church-sponsored depot. Two Youths Save Sister Of One From Drowning

NEWPORTVILLE, July 31—While bathing in Neshaminy Creek here yesterday, Virginia Carson, aged 12, had a narrow escape from drowning.

Virginia had started out toward a boat, and getting over her depth in water she went under. A boy seated nearby called to Virginia's brother, Russell Rhodes, asking if she could swim and saying she had gone under.

It was then that Rhodes, seated on the pier, and John Rice, who was in the water, went to her aid.

Virginia is the daughter of Mrs. L. Carson, West Bristol.

CROP DUSTER'S PLANE IS A BULLET TARGET

Individual Who Objects To Low Flying of Airplanes Is Blamed

NO DAMAGE IS DONE

MECHANICSVILLE, July 31—A South Carolinian, "Jack" Reynolds, one of three brothers who make a specialty of dusting and spraying crops for farmers, using a plane, likes to do the work early in the morning, especially when the dew is heavy, but he does not like to be the target for bullets while in the course of his duties.

This, allegedly, is what happened while Mr. Reynolds was engaged in spraying the tomato fields of Newton Beck, Mechanicsville, this week.

In order to do this type of work Mr. Reynolds has to fly at a very low altitude, and it is alleged that while he was about to apply the spray material to the fields on the Beck property he had occasion to fly rather low over "Camp Wonderland," which is located close to the Beck property.

Fortunately none of the shot struck the one-seater plane, but Mr. Reynolds was quite disturbed about the matter, and lost no time in taking to task the person alleged to have fired the shot. It appears the person alleged objects to planes flying low over the camp.

The morning proved ideal for the application of the spray, and early in the day Mr. Reynolds, who pilots the plane and operates the spraying apparatus at the same time, left the Doylestown Airport to spray several properties not far from the County Seat.

Starting about five o'clock, he completed the project on the Beck property in the course of two hours. During that time he covered about 30 acres, but had to make several return trips to the airport to refuel the spray tanks. The spray is applied to prevent the tomatoes from becoming blight infested.

The plane flies very low over the plants as the spray is applied. This is necessary because if the spray is released from a great height, it will be wafted away by the wind.

After the project on the Beck farm was completed, Mr. Reynolds refueled and began work on the P. O. S. of A. farm, near Chalfont. This property is operated by Woodrow P. Coughenour, who has at least 60 acres of tomatoes and 10 or 15 acres of carrots under cultivation. The spraying there was completed in about four hours, and later Mr. Reynolds sprayed about 30 more acres for Mr. Coughenour on a tract at Pebble Hill.

Not knowing Mr. Reynolds was engaged in a legitimate enterprise, quite a number of residents of the Chalfont area, it is said, made complaints about the plane flying so close to the ground.

Molotov Disapproves Small Nations' Plan

Paris—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of the Soviet Union made his bow before the Paris peace conference today with a flat disapproval of small nation plans to achieve all decisions by rule of a simple majority vote. Molotov charged that such procedure would tend to discredit the conference and the decisions it adopts and he used the phrase "a play on votes" to describe the process favored so strenuously by Australian External Affairs Minister Herbert V. Evatt.

Proceed with Plans for Heirens' Trial

Chicago—William Heirens, 17-year-old suspect in three murders and numerous burglaries, was back in a Cook County jail cell today while the State proceeded with plans which may send him to the electric chair.

Heirens balked at the last minute when asked to dictate a full statement on the kidnap-slitting of Suzanne Degnan, 6, and the murders of ex-WAVE Frances Brown and Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow.

He stated calmly back at State Attorney William J. Tuohy and some 30 other officials, including his own attorneys, when questioned by Tuohy concerning the three slayings. Heirens stock answer was: "I don't remember."

Spread Search for Bomb Perpetrators

Jerusalem—The gigantic search for perpetrators of the King David Hotel bombing, which found some 20,000 battle-armed British troops sifting the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, spread today to Jerusalem. Police in the Holy City searched poorer-class residential areas, and scoured even the Jewish orphanage at Jerusalem. A number of persons were detained for further questioning.

Charge Cartel Agreements

Washington—The Justice Department today filed civil action in Cleveland, O., charging three American and one foreign bearing manufacturing firms with cartel agreements controlling world-wide markets.

The law suits included: SKF Industries, Inc., of Philadelphia, and Aktiebolaget Svenska Kullagerfabriken of Gothenburg, Sweden.

FIRE LOSS HERE IN THREE MONTHS, $54,450

Practically All of The Loss Confined to Destruction of Bloom Plant

PLAN PARADE IN 1948

Bristol firemen are considering inviting the Bucks County Firemen's Association to hold its annual convention and parade in Bristol in June 1948. This was revealed last night at the quarterly meeting of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department.

Upon motion of the firemen the secretary was instructed to write Borough Council asking approval of the Department participating in such an invitation, along with the other fire companies of the borough.

Bristol's fire loss went skyrocketing in the three-month period ending July 30th. This was revealed last night at the quarterly meeting of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department.

The quarterly report of Fire Chief, Clifford Hagerman, showed that firemen here answered 48 calls during the three months dating from April 30th to July 30th.

The total loss during the period was $54,450 which included a loss of $54,000 sustained when the building of Superior Zinc Corporation and occupied by the Bloom Furniture Company was destroyed. Other losses $450 were to property and $50 to contents of property.

Firemen were called three times to rescue cats from trees, five times when services were not required and five alarms were false. Two calls were from out-of-town. Other calls were three automobile fires, one oil stove fire, one chimney fire, three box car fires. There were five summons for rubbish fires, refrigerator, 1; dump fires, 8; property fires, one; electric locomotive, one; tree fires, two; factory fires, two; special services, one; garage fires, one; grass fires, three; garage fires, one.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . .

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Indications are that Andy May's heart will not improve until after the primaries in Kentucky.

There seems to be nothing wrong with him that a little rest and a lot of votes won't cure.

So far Andy has told the House and his constituents that Mean can't lay a glove on him . . . Billy Conn trained on similar statements.

Andy says all he is accused of is trying to expedite war production . . . he evidently hasn't been getting complete copies of the papers.

Nowhere in his letter to the home folks did Andy tell what the bride wore . . . probably an oversight.

But for a man who hasn't been formally charged with wrong doing he puts up a fine defense.

Anyhow Congress is about ready to adjourn . . . if anything comes up on which the President needs advice he can ring Murray's bell.

Who needs Congress when there are so many voluntary country-runners?

ST. ANN'S DEFEATS LEGION IN EASY STYLE

St. Ann's A. A. continued to set the pace in the Suburban League by scoring a 13-3 victory over the Legion last evening on the Maple Beach diamond.

Too many passes early in the game spelled the doom of the Legion starting hurler, "Mike" Peter. "Jake" Accardi who relieved him pitched good ball. "Nate" Chichiletti pitched the route for St. Ann's and allowed the Legionnaires six hits.

In the final inning, "Shivers" Sagolla hit his second home run of the season, a tremendous drive to left field.

BADENHAUSEN KEEPS EDGE ON 4TH PLACE

CORNWELLS, July 31—The Badenhause team maintained its edge on fourth place in the Bristol Suburban League by whipping the Schutte-Koerting team, 13-3 last evening on the Bensalem field.

"Tinky" Schneider was the big gun of the Bades' attack as he pounded out a home run, triple and two doubles. He scored four runs. Leo Hibbs had three runs while Frank Brown had a home run for the Schuttes.

Here and There In Bucks County Towns

The little church was filled to capacity, and several score were standing at the windows and the doors on the outside.

About one third of the audience was made up of former pupils in the Sunday School, which was conducted there some 20 years ago.

Edwin Althouse, of near Doylestown, gave some interesting experiences of the days when he went to the Sunday School. One of his pupils, Asher Leatherman, Doylestown, also made appropriate remarks. After singing some old familiar hymns the pastor of the Doylestown Presbyterian Church, Dr. M. M. Hostetter, delivered an address on "The Things That Never Change."

After the service an hour was spent in the renewing of old friendships.

Over Saturday and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. George Tracy and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Peterson, at Millville, N. J.
